WHAT IT MEANS.

A man says he will "guarantee" some article for "three years". What does "guarantee" mean?

A three years' guarantee does not mean that an owner or anyone else is licensed to get an axe and hammer the guaranteed goods into a hopeless mass of unrecognizable matter, just to see if the guarantee is inside. It does not mean that you are permitted to throw the merchandise out of a six-story block just to see if it will break and thus you are to get a new one.

A guarantee means—as applied to the Douglas Patent Closet—that the Douglas is warranted to be free from imperfections in workmanship and material. If a flaw appears within three years from date of sale it is replaced—no charge.

And the Douglas sells for only $25!
